REFUSES RIDE TO ZORA MAN, FIGHT ENSUES

Newark Autoist Struck In Face By Rock; Wm. Tully Sent To Jail.

TWO $10 BILLS ARE MISSING

Charged with knocking unconscious a man who had befriended him, William Tully, 32 of Zora, was arrested Saturday evening.

Tully is in the Adams county jail charged with aggravated assault and battery.

According to Trooper Joseph Salinger, of the state police, who, together with Patrolman Harold S. Roberts, of the local sub-station of the motor patrol, was called to Zora, George Anderson, 42, of A. Lincoln avenue, Newark, New Jersey, had picked up Tully and had given the latter a "lift" to his home.

Refuses Request for "Lift" Tully, according to the officer, then asked Anderson to take him and Mrs. Tully to Baltimore. When Anderson, who was enroute to Washington, Pa., refused, Tully became abusive, Trooper Salinger said, and a fight ensued.

Anderson was getting the better of Tully in the fistfights, when the countman picked up a rock and smashed it against Anderson's face, knocking him unconscious, the officer said.

After Tully had knocked Anderson down, Harold Swope and Aretas Worthington, both of Gettysburg, and Lester Mumma, of Hanover, came along in an automobile and stopped. As they drove up to the scene, the three youths reported to the state police that they saw Tully kick Anderson's unconscious form on the highway and start running away.

Officers Are Notified

One of the youths called to Tully, saying he was an officer. When Tully returned and discovered that the youths were not officers, he again left the scene.

The youths, believing Anderson was dead, notified the motor patrol sub-station. The patrolmen then notified the state police.

When Trooper Salinger and Patrolman Roberts arrived on the scene about an hour after the altercation, which occurred at 9 o'clock, Anderson was still unconscious. He had been carried to the side of the road by the three youths and made as comfortable as possible.

Receives Treatment At Hospital

Tully hid in a woodshed at his home for some time after the alleged assault before going to the house, where Trooper Salinger was waiting to arrest him.

Patrolman Roberts brought Anderson to the Warner hospital where a number of stitches were required to close the cuts on his face, while Trooper Salinger brought Tully to jail.

Trooper Salinger found a large white flint stone, covered with blood, near Anderson. This he brought to the local sub-station to be used as evidence.

Two $10 Bills Missing

After he recovered consciousness, Anderson discovered that two $10 bills had been removed from his pocketbook which was found beside him on the road. Five $1 bills remained in the billfold. State police said they did not know what became of the money. A search of Tully failed to reveal the missing $20.

Tully is being held in default of $1,000 bail for a hearing next week.

After receiving treatment at the hospital, Anderson returned to Newark.

Rites For Patrolman To Be Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Patrolman Paul L. Van Norman, a former member of the local sub-station of the Pennsylvania motor patrol, who died at the Mont Alto hospital, Friday evening, will be held Tuesday afternoon, meeting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lottie Van Norman, 341 Spring street, Bethlehem, at 1:30 o'clock, with further services in the Bethlehem Reformed church of which the deceased was a member. Burial will be at Slatington. Members of the motor patrol, including those stationed here, expect to attend the services in a body.

REENS MOVE TODAY

Professor and Mrs. Gilbert Reen today moved from North Stratton street to the Snyder apartments, North Washington street, vacated by Professor and Mrs. U. E. Dibble.

3 Men Kill 40-inch Rattlesnake, Sunday

Diamond-back Reptile One Of Largest Found In Vicinity Of Marsh Creek Hunting Club.

While returning from a weekend at the Marsh Creek hunting club cabin in the South mountains, Sunday evening, Dorsey Rebert, George March and Ralph Z. Oyler killed a 40-inch diamond-back rattlesnake. The reptile was one of the largest ever killed in the vicinity of the Marsh Creek camp.

Others in the camping party included Dr. R. D. Wickerham, A. E. Hutchison, H. H. Thomas, Emory Dougherty and George Buehler.

MAY ESTABLISH 2ND C. C. C. CAMP ON BATTLEFIELD

Local Office Outlines Additional Projects For Winter Work.

MOVE SECTIONS OF MESS HALL

Not only will Gettysburg's Civilian Conservation corps forest camp be retained here through the winter months but a second camp may be assigned here for service on the various battlefield projects outlined by Superintendent James R. McConaghie.

The local headquarters' office of the National Military park has been asked by the National Park service, of the department of the interior, if another camp can be accommodated on the battlefield and if so, whether there is sufficient work to be done to maintain an additional force.

Enough Work For New Camp

Mr. McConaghie said this morning that he has enough work here to keep several hundred additional forest workers busy for a year or more. The local superintendent said that there are more than 2,000 dead trees on the battlefield that have to be cut down and that considerable underbrush must be cleaned out to eliminate fire hazards and preserve the beauty of the park. Other projects also will involve several months' work and a second camp would be a welcome asset, Mr. McConaghie explained.

In the meantime Capt. Francis J. Moran, commandant of the forest camp, is going forward with plans and arrangements relative to the continuance of the local camp through the winter.

Although no definite orders have been received that the camp will be retained here every indication points to that prospect and the camp officers are pushing plans to place this camp in readiness for the winter months.

Re-arrange Camp Grounds

Wall boards will be built around each tent, about four feet high; stoves will be placed in each tent, and winter issue of clothes including overcoats, boots, winter camps, gloves and other articles of apparel will be issued to the men if the camp is retained.

A re-arrangement of the camp is underway now. An officers' mess is being built near headquarters tent. The officers' mess section in the large mess hall is being converted into a recreation room and post exchange. Supply and other miscellaneous tents will be moved to the street line of tents. A gravel parking plot will be laid out near the entrance to the camp and a rustic arch will be erected over the gravel road entrance.

FRACTURES SHOULDER

In a fall from bed, Sunday, Walter Younglove, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Younglove, Gettysburg R. D., suffered a fracture of the right shoulder. He was brought to the Warner hospital where an X-ray examination was made and the fracture reduced.

MUST FACE JUSTICE

Roxie E. Myers, Hanover, R. 5, was arrested on the Littlestown-Hanover road, Sunday afternoon, on a charge of driving a car without an operator's license. An information was laid before Justice of the Peace H. G. Blocher, Littlestown.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sites, Water street, Fairfield, announce the birth of a son, Saturday evening. Both mother and baby are reported doing nicely.

2 MEN INJURED IN TRUCK, CAR CRASH, SUNDAY

Columbus, Ohio, Man Receives Treatment In Warner Hospital.

COACH WRECKED; LOSS TOTALS $15

Two men were injured, neither of them seriously, and damage to the extent of $15 resulted from an automobile accident on the Lincoln highway, one mile east of Mc-Knightstown, Sunday evening at 11:50 o'clock.

T. W. Jackson, 25, colored, of Columbus, Ohio, and Thomas Ridley, 53, of the Penn hotel, Baltimore, were injured, the former being admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital where today his condition was reported good. He suffered fractures of several ribs.

According to Corporal C. M. Stroh, of the local sub-station of the state motor patrol, who investigated the accident occurred when a truck, traveling east on the highway, and driven by Earl H. Schurr, 33, of Douglassville, Berks county, crashed into the rear of a coach-type automobile, parked on the highway, pushing the machine into the rear of a truck-load of scenery parked just ahead of the coach.

Jackson, who was operating the truck of scenery, stopped to render assistance to Ridley, who was driving the coach. Both machines were traveling together when the coach developed engine trouble and stopped.

Corporal Stroh said the coach was parked with the right wheels about a foot off the concrete and was without a tail light. Schurr failed to see the coach until his truck was almost upon it.

Both Jackson and Ridley were hit by the coach after it was struck by Schurr's truck. A passing motorist brought Jackson to the hospital. Ridley suffered a bruised left leg.

The coach was completely wrecked, but Corporal Stroh said the machine had a value of less than $10 before the accident. Only slight damage was done to the two trucks.

Countian Will Present Liner Code To Johnson

John S. Rice, of Arentzville, state senator from the Adams-Franklin district, will go to Washington Wednesday to present to the new national recovery act administration the code of the basket liner packing companies of America to Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator. Senator Rice, of the Biglerville firm of Rice, Trew and Rice, recently returned from Chicago where representatives of the eight large manufacturers of basket liners assembled and drafted their code.

The code complies with the requirements of the blanket code of the NRA, providing for a 40-hour work week and base pay of 30 cents per hour in small communities and 40 cents per hour in larger communities.

The pay is based upon the scale of pay as of July 1929.

SEVEN APPLY FOR STATE HEARINGS

Adams County Truckers Seek Commission's Approval As Common Carriers.

Seven Gettysburg and Adams county truckers have made application to the state public service commission for certificates of public convenience evidencing the commission's approval to operate motor vehicles as common carriers from Adams county to York, Franklin, Cumberland and Dauphin counties. Hearings on the applications will be held at the court house in York during the week beginning September 10.

A new state law requires all truck operators to secure certificates of approval from the public service commission.

The first seven applicants and the dates of their hearings follow: James W. Brown, New Oxford, Gettysburg R. 2, September 12; C. L. Sheads, Hanover street, Gettysburg; William A. Ruth, East Berlin, and Cleason H. Cromer, West Middle street, Gettysburg, September 13; Howard C. Bollinger, East Middle street, September 14, and J. W. McCleaf, Gettysburg R. 2, September 16. Each hearing will begin at 9 a. m.

Black Roses Are Ready To Bloom

Lancaster, Aug. 28 (AP).—Black roses will be blooming soon in a horticultural company's gardens near West Grove.

Recently, after years of experimenting by a German rose grower resulted in production of a black specimen, Robert Pyle, of West Grove, saw it on display at the Sangerhauser rosarium in Germany. He was granted the right to obtain buds from the original plant, and shipped them to Chester county, where experts grafted them onto roots.

The first buds bloomed a few weeks ago. The next set is due early in September.

S. B. Hutton, an official of the horticultural company, says the rose is "more of a velvety deep red-black hue." The petals are deep red under the stem, but as it widens the color becomes a deep purple. Most of the tip is nearly black.

Max Krause, of Hasloh, near Holstein, produced the original by crossing the "Chateau de Ches Vougeot" and "Lord Castelreach" roses.

BEGIN USE OF NATURAL GAS

Gettysburg Consumers Notified Of Change By Local Corporation.

The Gettysburg gas corporation today began serving straight natural gas to its consumers in Gettysburg. H. H. Miller, district manager, announced. At the same time the local gas manufacturing establishment in the rear of North Stratton street was closed after being in operation since 1860.

Ever since the natural gas was brought into Gettysburg a number of months ago, local consumers have been using a mixture of natural and manufactured gas.

The change from the manufactured to the straight natural gas will require the adjustment of all gas appliances, Mr. Miller said, because the flame will be slightly higher than with mixed gas or straight manufactured gas.

Work of changing the appliances is now being made by company employees without cost to the consumers. In today's issue of The Gettysburg Times, the gas company gives its customers instructions to follow in using the natural gas until the service man adjusts the various appliances.

EXPERT STUDIES TREES AND PESTS

National Park Service Representative To Map Program For Battlefield.

Forest Arnold, of the National Park service, Washington, is in Gettysburg, assigned to special duty here to conduct a survey of the battlefield trees, relative to pests and diseases of the trees.

Mr. Arnold will make a careful survey of the pests and diseases on the field with the view of recommending a new project for the battlefield program of the Civilian Conservation corps forest workers. The program will include preservation of the battlefield trees and elimination and control of the pests and diseases.

Superintendent McConaghie requested that a forester be sent here to conduct the survey because of the prevalence of pests in the trees.

Some of the diseases prevalent here include the white pine blister rust, hickory bark beetle, elm leaf beetle and various other scales.

MARKS 88TH BIRTHDAY

FIND TRUE BILL IN MURDER CASE

Grand Jurors Indict Oliver Kauffman After Hearing Four Witnesses.

The grand jury returned a true bill of indictment against Oliver D. Kauffman at 12 o'clock this noon, after hearing four witnesses offered by the state.

Twenty-three persons comprise the grand jury panel at the current session of court which convened at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Robert Wehrhime, of McSherrystown, was excused because of illness.

Of the 23, Mrs. N. L. Minter, East Middle street, is the only woman. All are white except David Stanton, porter at the Hotel Gettysburg. Judge Donald P. McPherson, president judge of the court, completed his instructions to the grand jurors shortly before eleven o'clock and District Attorney John P. Butt immediately started presenting evidence to the body, asking true bills of indictment in more than twenty cases to be tried at the present session of court.

T. A. Lowe, of Hamiltonban township, was appointed foreman by Judge McPherson.

Three constables made returns to the court.

Five petit jurors were excused, four because of illness and one who died since his name was placed in the jury wheel. Those excused are Mrs. Walter J. Lott, of Franklin township; Harry J. Pecher, of Liberty township; E. C. Rohrbaugh, of Littlestown, and Charles A. Myers, of Conewago township. Sixty petit jurors have been called.

The first evidence to be presented to the grand jurors was in the case of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania against Oliver Daniel Kauffman, Hamiltonban township, charged with the murder of Clarence Daywalt.

BOOSTS TOWN FOR '35 MEET

J. E. Snyder To Extend Invitation For Convention Of Post Office Clerks.

Gettysburg has extended an invitation to the United National association of Postoffice Clerks to hold their 1935 convention in this historic community. J. E. Snyder, secretary of the local branch, is in Chicago attending the convention and will formally present Gettysburg's invitation.

The association meets every two years. Thomas F. Dolan, of Boston, president of the national group, advised Mr. Snyder that the convention would give full consideration to Gettysburg's invitation and Charles J. Watrous, of Chicago, chairman of the convention committee, notified the local clerks that he "will boost for Gettysburg." Mr. Watrous said that while he had never visited Gettysburg, his father answered Lincoln's first call for volunteers, from Pennsylvania.

LEGIONNAIRES RETURN

Members of the Volture Locale, No. 731, 40-8, of the American Legion returned to Gettysburg late Saturday evening after attending the state legion convention in Philadelphia on Friday and Saturday. The box car entered by the local volture in the parade on Friday attracted much attention along the route. Several Philadelphia newspapers published pictures of the float in their Saturday editions.

$69 LOOT TAKEN BY 4 ROBBERS AT SERVICE STATION

Force "Bud" Shorb, Attendant, To Precede Car To Emmitsburg.

NO PLATES ON BANDITS' AUTO

Four men held up "Bud" Shorb, 20, of Emmitsburg, night man at Allen Fitzgerald's gasoline service station on the Gettysburg road, just north of Emmitsburg, at pistol point at 2:45 o'clock this morning, stole the cash register, containing between $8 and $9, and a 25-cent slot machine, containing about $60.

After forcing Shorb to walk ahead of their machine toward Emmitsburg after the holdup and robbery, the quartet drove around the service station attendant through Emmitsburg.

Shorb was asleep in the service station when the four men drove up in a car. After arousing Shorb, one of the men asked for gasoline.

Carry Out Cash Register

As the attendant was about to comply with the man's request, the holdup man ordered Shorb to keep his hands up. Shorb turned around and looked into the muzzle of a revolver.

While the robber kept Shorb "covered" with his pistol, the other three bandits entered the service station and brought out the cash register which they put into their car. On the second trip into the service station, the men brought out the slot machine and loaded it into the machine.

The quartet then decided to truss up Shorb, but were unable to find any dope. Instead, they made him walk ahead of their machine toward Emmitsburg. After going a short distance toward Emmitsburg, the bandits' car drove around Shorb and disappeared through the town.

Shorb Describes Machine

Shorb then notified Fitzgerald and Maryland police were notified. Shorb said he believed the bandits had removed the license plates from their car. He said he could not recall seeing any license on the car. He was able, however, to give a good description of the machine.

Three of the holdup men wore long light coats, like the old-style linen dusters, while the fourth man was dressed in an ordinary dark suit.

One of the men was about 30 years old, while the other three were about 20 years old, Shorb said.

KAUFFMAN TRIAL GETS UNDERWAY; PICK TWO JURORS

21-year-old Defendant Pleads Not Guilty In Court This Afternoon.

APPEARS CALM AND COMPOSED

At 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, two jurors had been accepted for duty by the prosecution and the defense in the Kauffman murder trial. They were William Cole, of The Narrows, and Harry E. Hulick, of Straban township.

Oliver Daniel Kauffman, 21-year-old Hamiltonban township youth, went on trial for his life this afternoon in the Adams county court, facing a charge of shooting to death Clarence Daywalt, 34, also of Hamiltonban township, on the night of June 11.

Kauffman entered the court room at 12:55 o'clock accompanied by Sheriff John C. Wible and Deputy Sheriff Blaine E. Bixler. Kauffman was manacled to Bixler's left wrist. Kauffman's right hand was in his coat pocket and Bixler's left hand was in his own coat pocket. Sheriff Wible flanked Kauffman on the latter's left side.

Kauffman wore the same blue suit he was wearing on the night of the fatal shooting. It had been cleaned and pressed last week in preparation for his appearance in court.

Defendant Appears Calm

A light gray hat, with a black band, was atop his head. He wore a new white shirt with soft collar and a black and white striped tie. His shirt collar was fastened under the knot of the tie with a small cl

TEXT FOUND IN PROVERBS 16:3

"Taking Hold of God" was the theme of the sermon delivered by the Rev. George Snyder, pastor of Gardeners United Brethren church, Sunday morning.

The text was taken from Proverbs 16:3, "Commit thy works unto the Lord and thy thoughts shall be established."

"Rare and valuable as our text is, it takes on a new light, a new brilliance, if we place by its side another psalm, one that is taken from the first book of Peter 5:7, 'Casting all your care upon him: for he careth for you,' and from Psalms 37:5, 'Commit they way unto the Lord, trust also in him: and he shall bring it to pass.'"

Prayer Rewarded
"These verses overflow with meaning, are alive with helps. But taking hold of God seems to be the most profound theme, the one that strikes the deepest note. Many a man and woman, too, in a moment of discouragement, in a crisis, has discovered the comfort and strength of taking hold of God. In the hour of trial he laid the matter before God in prayer and was enabled to face bravely the fundamental problems of every day living."

The Rev. Mr. Snyder then briefly sketched the trials and tribulations of David, the singer of Israel, Stephen, and of St. Paul, the artist, and how each in his darkest moment found solace by taking hold of God.

Continuing the pastor said: "And now let me ask a direct question. What is the one thing needful for the man or the woman who can no longer find joy in the singing of the birds and the babbling brooks when a dark cloud hides the sun? You have the answer to the question. When the days are dreary you must take hold of God."

David Finds Peace
"That is what David did when he found himself face to face with hatred, loneliness and discord in his family. David took hold of God. He came through the crisis not with his own strength, goodness or greatness. And David's way was Stephen's way, and St. Paul's way."

"If your neighbor came through the crisis; found once more the light of the sun, he took hold of his God. 'What about us then? Our answer to the direct question must be the same. When we are face to face with critical moments in life; when we can no longer enjoy the beauty of springtime, we must take hold of God.'"

Relief Lists Drop As Idle Go To Work

Pennsylvania Among First, With 69 Per Cent Gains; Survey Reveals Improvement.

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP).—One-third of the names on last March's unemployment relief rolls have been erased, a nation-wide survey indicated Sunday.

Approximately 1,500,000 families have been removed from state and federal charity lists, due mainly to the mounting tide of unemployment, reports from every section of the country showed.

While nearly 3,000,000 families still were accepting aid last month, the number had been lessening monthly as men went back to work and summer weather made subsistence easier.

Closely calculated reports from thirty-four states showed that 1,223,000 families have placed themselves on self-supporting bases since March, the month of greatest general unemployment.

Pennsylvania has improved its relief picture 69 per cent since March, when 357,051 families were dependent on relief roles.

Feeds Fish First Time In 28 Months

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 28 (AP).—Here's another fish story, but it hasn't anything to do with rod and line.

As told by Motorcycle Officer Leonard, he bought three goldfish in 1931. He put too much water in the bowl, and two of the fish jumped out and died.

Leonard gave the bowl, with the sole survivor, to a niece who was visiting him. Playing in the cellar, she put the bowl in a secluded spot. Recently, Leonard, ransacking the cellar for something or other, was surprised to discover the goldfish bowl, with only about an inch of water remaining, but the fish swimming about.

Leonard says he refilled the bowl and gave the fish its first food in 28 months. The fish died a few hours later.

World's Record For Upside-Down Flying Is Set By Italian Aviator

Lieutenant Tito Falconi, With One Of Three Safety Straps Broken, Stunts For Over Three Hours Between St. Louis And Joliet, Illinois.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 28 (AP).—Lieut. Tito Falconi landed his airplane here shortly after 3 p. m. (C. S. T.) Sunday and claimed a new world's time record of 3 hours 6 minutes and 39 seconds for inverted flight.

Lieutenant Falconi, who bettered a mark of 2 hours 20 minutes, made by Milo G. Burcham, of Long Beach, California, started his upside down flight in St. Louis about noon Sunday. Burcham had beaten a record of 2 hours 13 minutes set by the Italian previously.

Three airplanes, two carrying observers for the American aeronautical association, accompanied Falconi on the flight.

Falconi said that one of the three supporting straps holding him secure in his plane broke during the flight, and that for nearly an hour he depended upon the other two to maintain his weight. Most of his weight was thrown on one shoulder, which he said, became stiff and sore from the strain. Otherwise, Falconi said he encountered no difficulty.

The flyer had planned to fly on to Chicago over the Century of Progress grounds and to land at the Curtis-Reynolds airport. He made his flight as a prelude to the international air races scheduled September 1 to 4. Falconi said he practiced inverted flying at various times on his way to St. Louis from Los Angeles and flew that way between Albuquerque and Amarillo, although no observers were present to make the distance or time official.

He explained that the first twenty minutes of upside down flying was the most difficult. After that preliminary period was over, he said he felt no different than when flying in regular fashion.

4 Prisoners Flee Detroit Jail, Using Cleric, Girl As Shields

Escape During Church Services After Forcing Minister And Pianist Along—Three Recaptured In Downtown Gun Battle With Police.

Detroit, Aug. 28 (AP).—Slugging two guards and forcing a minister and a girl pianist ahead of them as human shields, four prisoners escaped from the Wayne county jail during church services Sunday.

Ten minutes later three of the four prisoners were recaptured after one of them had fought a gun battle with officers in the heart of the downtown district.

The prisoners, Irvin Pyle, 44; Julius Wild, 35; William Ryan, 44; and Steven Andrews, 27, slugged Guards Alex Niedzielski and William McLeod with improvised blackjacks, took their keys and forced the Rev. Ernest C. Fackler and Miss Irene Outland, 20, a pianist, to precede them from the jail.

More than one hundred other prisoners were in the assembly hall at the time.

Gaining the street the prisoners separated. Pyle, cornered by Deputy John C. Moon in front of a theater, exchanged pistol shots with the officer until his ammunition was exhausted and he surrendered. Wild and Ryan were captured in the lobby of a nearby building. Andrews still was at large Sunday night.

College Graduate Weds Franklin Girl

Following the close of the Sunday morning service at the Spry Lutheran church, Spry, York county, the Rev. Ralph H. Miller, the pastor, announced that he had been married last Tuesday. The Rev. Mr. Miller was recently elected to the pastorate of the Spry and Freysville Lutheran churches. He is a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran theological seminary here.

The Rev. Mr. Miller was wed on Tuesday to Miss Gladys Smith, of Williamson, Franklin county, at Chambersburg. The ceremony was performed in the Trinity Lutheran church by the pastor, the Rev. C. A. Neal. Parents, immediate relatives and friends of the couple were in attendance.

After the ceremony the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. They expect to move into the parsonage in Spry on September 7.

Mrs. Miller is a graduate of the Shippensburg State Teachers' college, class of 1927, in the three-year course. She taught six terms in the Lehigh Consolidated school, Franklin county. She recently resigned as a teacher, after having been elected for her seventh term.

Kin Of Gettysburg Resident Is Married

Mahlon B. Watts, son of Mrs. Jennie Gillan Watts, of Lincoln Way East, Chambersburg, and Miss Sarah C. Rider, daughter of James E. Rider, of Waynesboro, were married last Tuesday. The bride and groom were united in marriage at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in the Presbyterian church of Waynesboro, by the Rev. J. M. Rutherford. The bridegroom is a nephew of Mrs. Charles S. Mumper, Springs avenue.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Watts left for a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Waynesboro.

The bride is a graduate of the Waynesboro high school and the Shippensburg state teachers' college. She also attended the New York university and was a teacher in the schools of Waynesboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Chambersburg high school and Pennsylvania State college. He is employed in the sales department of the Frick company of Waynesboro.

Negro Farmer Killed After 3-hour Battle

Burgaw, N. C., Aug. 28 (AP).—The body of Doc Rogers, 45-year-old negro farmer, who shot a white woman and a deputy sheriff yesterday and was then slain after a 3-hour gun battle with officers was dragged about the lawn of the Pendery county court house here last night.

Finally the bullet riddled body was given over to an undertaking establishment by a crowd of men and boys who had taken it from officers as they were bringing the body here from a farm.

Mrs. Tom Painter, 60, wife of a farmer, and R. T. Furray, Jr., deputy sheriff, were felled by the negro's gun. Both were wounded seriously.

Wets In Baltimore Plan Vote Caravan

Baltimore, Aug. 28 (AP).—Afraid that Maryland wets are taking a September 12 repeal victory for granted the anti-prohibition committee of the Liberty defense league today announced that it would recruit a fleet of automobiles to take Baltimore wets to the polls.

"The over-confidence that was feared when the first dozen states or so voted for repeal is having its deadly effect now that 23 states have lined up against prohibition," said Charles S. Mules, chairman of the committee.

Tropical Storms At Bermuda, Gulf

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—The weather bureau today was watching a tropical disturbance near Bermuda and one on the Gulf of Mexico but forecasters said their present character is little for concern.

R. H. Weightman, forecaster, said the disturbance in the gulf was merely "an unsettled condition" and that the highest wind reported was around 16 miles an hour.

The blow near Bermuda had a maximum of 28 miles an hour according to reports.

Automobile Industry Signs Modified Code

Roosevelt Approves Pact That Ends Long Controversy; Bituminous Conference At Standstill.

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—The NRA extended its hold over American business Sunday to take in under a permanent code of fair practice the giant automobile industry, but its effort to bring in bituminous, last of the big basic groups, was in a critical state.

The auto code, source of deep-seated controversy for more than a week because of the insistence of the manufacturers for a clause to preserve the right to hire and fire workers regardless of union affiliation, was finally signed by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park. That provision, much modified, remained in the agreement.

The recovery administration reported without comment the statement of its labor advisory board to the effect that it accepted the code with the understanding that the industry's qualification "does not establish a precedent to be followed in the preparation of acceptance of any other code."

The next of the paragraph in question, inserted in the code immediately following the declaration that labor is free to organize and bargain collectively, which is required by law, said:

"Without in any way attempting to qualify or modify, by interpretation, the foregoing requirement of the national industrial recovery act, employers in this industry may exercise their right to select, retain or advance employees on the basis of individual merits, without regard to their membership or nonmembership in any organization."

Prof. Moley Resigns Government Position

Tense Relations In State Department Near Breaking Point; Rift Started In London.

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP).—A victory for Secretary of State Hull which may strengthen his hand in the conduct of America's foreign policies was seen by his associates Sunday in the sudden resignation of Raymond Moley as assistant secretary of state.

Mr. Hull himself learned of the development through an Associated Press telephone call to the remote section of the Virginia hills where he has been fishing and resting for about two weeks, but made no immediate comment.

Other officials here expressed the belief that the post would be filled before long, as the state department will be busy this fall with war-debt conferences and tariff negotiations. There has been no indication yet as to Mr. Moley's successor.

The passing of the head of the mythical Roosevelt "brain trust" had been foreshadowed ever since the world economic conference in London, where his subsurface battle with Secretary Hull was actually won and lost, although few expected it would take him out of the government service entirely.

Mule Refuses To Plow Cotton Crop

Hemphill, Texas, Aug. 28 (AP).—Pole Mason, farmer near Hemphill, has a mule with a disposition extraordinarily docile. For seven years he has walked between the cotton rows, careful not to trample the growing staple.

Mason made ready to start plowing up his cotton in accordance with a farm relief agreement. The old mule refused to lean against the collar and pull the plow. No amount of persuasion could move him. Mason and his sons tried all day to force the animal to work.

To date, the mule has plowed up no cotton.

Women are good judges of value. And they're not easily fooled. They know the difference between "cheap" things and a worth while article at a low price.

That's why so many women of this community come here for jewelry, watches and silverware of the finer kind. Their good judgment tells them that they get more for their money.

McSherrystown Topples Arendtsville Out Of Tie With Victory, Sunday

ADAMS COUNTY LEAGUE
Gettysburg W. L. Pct. .750
Arendtsville 9 4 .692
McSherrystown 8 5 .615
New Oxford 8 5 .615
Bendersville 6 6 .500
Cashtown 5 8 .385
Centennial 4 10 .286
Fairfield 3 11 .214

Saturday's Scores
New Oxford, 10; Cashtown, 4, (15 innings).
Centennial, 1; Fairfield, 0.
Centennial, 9; Fairfield, 0, forfeit.

Sunday's Score
McSherrystown, 10; Arendtsville, 8.

Shelling Guy Raff from the mound in less than two innings, McSherrystown knocked Arendtsville out of the deadlock with Gettysburg for first place in the county firemen's league Sunday afternoon at McSherrystown by winning 10-8.

Gettysburg was idle over the week-end, the game scheduled to be played with Bendersville on the local grounds being postponed due to wet grounds. This game will be played as part of a doubleheader on the playground Saturday.

McSherrystown, using a patched up lineup, outslugged the Arendtsville nine in a wild exhibition Sunday afternoon. Six runs were tabbed by the victors in the first frame and two more added in the second. Jame Herman replaced Guy Raff in the second and although hit hard, stopped the scoring.

Strategy Works
Arendtsville kept peeking away at the McSherrystown lead and but for a brilliant piece of work by Johnny Weaver, shortstop, in the eighth inning, might have won the game. With the score standing 10-8, Arendtsville filled the sacks with one out. Slaybaugh raised a dinky fly to Weaver who purposely allowed the ball to fall safely. Slaybaugh was automatically out according to rules. Herman bolted off second base and before he could recover his base was pinched on Weaver's chuck to Noel.

New Oxford and Cashtown set a new record for the county league by struggling through 15 innings before a decision was reached. New Oxford finally pounding over six runs to win 10-4.

Longest Game
L. Bevenour hurled the entire game for New Oxford. Jake Starner pitched effectively until the fifteenth when he weakened and was replaced by Dale Bream. The game required three hours and 10 minutes for completion. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed until Saturday.

Fairfield lost the first game to Centennial 1-0 and then forfeited the second tilt following an argument.

Announcement was made Sunday that the second game of the play-off series

The HIDDEN DOOR

By FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Colin Hewitt, mystery writer, is scouring New York disguised as Clarkie Lunn, a crook, for a trace of the Mask. The Mask is a crook of the underworld, and besides has threatened Colin's life. Butch Connal has tipped Colin off to the fact that Captain Dollaire, rum runner who raised the Mask's counterfeiting plant on the St. Lawrence river, is in New York, at Spinel's night club. A supposedly drunk man at Spinel's bar has described Dollaire and Heimie Schwarm, to whom Dollaire hopes to sell a cargo of rum. The "drunk" is one of Butch's mob.

Chapter 31

ENTER HEIMIE

The barkeep was back. He grinned at Colin as the "drunk" lurched away.

"What's his name?" asked Colin. "Peter K. McBride." The barkeep's grin broadened. "Didn't he wish a card on you?"

Colin shook his head. "No. Have I been neglected?" "We sweep 'em up off the floor in the morning," confided the barkeep with a laugh. "He carries a pocketful around with him. But he's all right when he's sober. Got a bit of money, so they say—retired—or something."

"Well, I think I'll blow," smiled Colin. "When he comes back tell him I had a telephone call."

He swung away from the bar, left the room, and began to make his way downstairs. Peter K. McBride, whatever his real name might be, was obviously one of Butch's "inside" men—a "feeder" for the gang. And McBride's warning was ringing in his ears.

How much, or how little, MacBride already knew, or whether the man had only "sensed" something in the air, mattered little. That, in MacBride's words, hell would bust loose here before the night was over, was exactly what he, Colin, was expecting—and he was quite sure in his own mind that he could have told MacBride why!

His own plans? He had none—except to watch Dollaire and be guided by circumstances. Dollaire was the bait. His, Colin's job, was to see who snatched at it!

Colin reached the entrance to the dance hall and paused for a moment in the doorway amongst what seemed the ever-present knot of people who stood there peering in. A "turn" was on. He had seen it before. A girl was covering the floor with prodigious leaps and bounds—but very little covered the girl. Spinel called it his psychic dance.

Colin's eyes roamed around the room—and came to rest almost immediately on Heimie Schwarm, whom he identified without hesitation from MacBride's description. At the table beside the booze baron was a stocky, powerfully built, black-haired man—Dollaire, of course.

They were sitting, as MacBride had said, in one of the "stalls" near the door a bottle of champagne between them. Colin smiled cryptically. Spinel never overlooked a bet that meant a little extra profit.

The "stalls" were nothing more than raised-off spaces on a slightly raised platform that was built around three sides of the room, but they possessed comfortable lounge chairs and the view was better, so why should not a small fee be charged for their use? Spinel charged it. But they were popular. Most of them were occupied tonight.

Colin moved forward into the room. He contented himself with a table on the floor level not far from the booze baron's stall—he could watch Dollaire, not only unobtrusively, but much better from here than from a stall.

Again his eyes roamed around the room. The tables, three deep, that separated the space reserved for dancing from the stalls, were fairly well occupied too. Spinel would be able to declare a dividend tonight!

He ordered a bottle of wine, and sipped it leisurely. Applause greeted several suggestive numbers on Spinel's programme. Colin saw little of them. The minutes and the quarter-hours slipped by. Heimie Schwarm and Dollaire had become a little uproarious, though not offensively so.

Had the deal been perfected? Had Heimie Schwarm become the owner of a choice cargo from St. Pierre and Miquelon? It mattered little. They were attacking another bottle of champagne. Heimie Schwarm had paid for it from a huge wad of bills that he had wrenched, because of its bulk, with no little difficulty from his pocket.

The Dutchman's combination of straw hair, brilliant red tie, and inch-square checked suit of light fawn as a color scheme struck a distinctly bilious note. Dollaire, swarthy, beetle-browed, narrow-eyed, with thin, hard lips and protruding jaw, was the reverse of being prepossessing.

And then, as he watched the two, a fine point of ethics arose in Colin's mind to trouble him. Believing that Dollaire was in immediate danger, had he any right to sit here and not warn the man? Mentally he began to debate the pros and cons.

What could he say to Dollaire? Nothing definite—but enough, say, to cause Dollaire to take alarm and leave the place. Well, what then? If the Mask had Dollaire under surveillance here, Dollaire would be no better off outside than in.

Dollaire had gratuitously thrown his hat into the ring. He had destroyed one of the Mask's pet schemes, and had murdered at least two—for Lazare might still be alive—of the Mask's men. If Colin knew the Mask at all, Dollaire, whether he were put on the spot here or elsewhere, was a doomed man from the night he had raided the club on the Cascade river.

Dollaire was a callous, cold-blooded murderer—boasting his prowess. One's finer instincts revolted even at the thought of his existence. Warn Dollaire? If the Mask or any of his men were here to see, then Clarkie Lunn might as well never have been created. He had not come here to warn Dollaire; he had come here to watch the Mask play his hand.

There were Germaine, himself, their future, his own life at stake. Ethics! His lips tightened. Was it ethics to fling all that aside on the chance of being able to accomplish what, at the utmost, could be no more than a postponement of the inevitable showdown between the Mask and Dollaire?

Suppose he were writing it? Angerily he sought to fling the sudden intrusion aside—but it persisted. One always had to justify the hero's actions. Would the hero be justified in the readers' eyes if he stood put under these circumstances? "By God," Colin stated fiercely to himself, "I'd write it that way, anyhow!"

A waiter stood at his elbow. "Pardon me, sir. There's a couple of gentlemen over there that would like you to join them."

Tomorrow, Colin meets an exceedingly dangerous former acquaintance.

HEAT

Cloudless sky and pitiless sun
And acres of harrowing to be done;
All day long that the corn may grow

The farmer toils in it, row by row.
The south breeze blows across dunes of sand
Great waves of heat from a burning land.

Hour after hour in the blazing sun
The reapers work till the harvest's done;
Like molten gold seems the ripened grain

Where the land breeze blows, but all in vain,
For heat, like fire, is a pitiless thing
Which mocks at man and his suffering.

In the open fields where the wheat is laid

A man must work without cooling shade,
And I often think as I pass him by,
As the sun beat down from a cloudless sky,

How little we know of the pain
that's borne
For the bread we eat and our yellow corn.

"I can see right through you!"
That used to be an intellectual boast.

Now it is a physical fact.
Professor Wilhelm Roentgen, a German physicist, in 1895 discovered a new and invisible ray that would penetrate objects through which light does not pass.

Professor Roentgen didn't know exactly what he had.

He didn't know whether the ray was a new one outside the known spectrum of light.

Or whether it was due to a known ray combined with other forces.

Or, yet, whether it was due to certain vibrations in the ether.

So, using the scientific symbol for the unknown quantity—he called his new find an X-ray.

And what a contribution to medical science!

Especially in the diagnosing of diseases early in their course.

Disease processes frequently grow stronger in the human body.

Usually, as in the cases of tuberculosis and cancer, the disease gets stronger and the body weaker.

Formerly it was necessary for pain, fever and general disability to notify a person that sickness was at hand.

No, with periodic physical examination, and the use of the X-ray, diseases of the lungs, sinuses, intestines, stomach, kidney and bones, can frequently be detected before producing more outspoken symptoms.

And the threatened disease may be nipped in its incipency.

A roentgenologist is one familiar with the X-ray.

And he can see right through

SPORT HEROES APT TO FORGET A FEW DETAILS

Star Performers Sometimes Know Less Of Records
Than Their Followers.

It seems to be one of the privileges of our great men in sports to be a trifle forgetful if not inaccurate about the details.

Things about which some furor may be made in the prints or the record books or among the fans do not seem to register any lasting memories with the performers themselves.

Ninety-nine out of every 100 boxing fanatics who recall the Dempsey-Firpo fight, either by hearsay or as an eye-witness, dwell at much length on the "mighty blow" which the Wild Bull flung our champion right out of the ring into the lap of Mr. Jack Lawrence, then on the staff of the New York Tribune.

But Dempsey will tell you, as he has told me, that the hardest blow he took in that fight was the very first punch that Firpo landed, a right to the jaw delivered as they rushed from their corners. In fact Dempsey says he saw at least three Firpos for the remainder of that hectic first round and on that basis he floored each of them 2-1-3 times.

Ruth's Memory Fails

Most any small American addict of the national sport of baseball knows more about the details of the great G. Herman Ruth's clouting record books, finding that unless the self.

I put to him the same query that had been handed me: "Do you know how many homers you have hit off Lefty Grove or what pitcher you hit for the most homers altogether?"

He couldn't even make a guess. I told him the count was nine off Grove and, so far as I could locate, 14 each off George Dauss and Howard Ehmke, for the high mark off any flinger.

"What about that Walberg?" he countered. "I musta hit plenty off him. Why I nicked him for seven one year, 1927, when I made the record."

At the moment we were in the Yankee dugout. Although skeptical I could not dispute the great man until I took another dive into the record books, finding that unless the official scorers had astigmatism Ruth collected only four homers off Walberg in 1927.

The Babe "Fixed Him"

There's a classic story told about the days when Ruth was a great lefthanded pitcher for the Red Sox, mowing the enemy down with speed and rare control.

The Babe had instructions between innings to "dust off" one of the opposing batsmen expected to come up in the next inning. He was given the name and nodded in complete agreement and understanding.

As it happened this particular batsman was replaced but it didn't mean anything to Ruth. He followed orders anyway, "got his man" and then came in to the bench chuckling!

"Well, I guess I fixed so-and-so the way you told me, didn't I?"

Cast-Offs Keep Portland High In Coast Race

Portland, Ore. (AP).—Using a bunch of "castoffs" from other Coast league clubs, Portland was making a determined bid for its second straight championship as the last weeks of play were entered.

The Beavers, under Spencer Abbott, are a veteran crew with the skipper apparently uninterested in developing young players for the majors. Of the regular squad only Pitchers Jacobs, Wilson and Bowman and Infielder Reeves have not played in the uniform of other coast nines.

The interesting phase of Portland's play has been its consistent winning and crowding for top place in the standing. Two catchers and five pitchers released by other clubs of the circuit have played in rare form for the Beavers.

The best showing of the "cast-off" bunch was made in July when all of the opposition was swept away and Portland seriously crowded Sacramento for the league lead.

Earl Sheely has been with three you.

DO YOU KNOW?

The majority of practicing physicians 100 years ago held medical society licenses, frequently called diplomas, and only a minority were medical college graduates. In the case of graduates of organized medical schools, no examination was required and the diploma, when registered in a court of record served locally as a license. Later, the state board issued a state license on presentation of the diploma.

It is estimated that the wastage from tuberculosis in the United States, in terms of dollars alone, is nearly a billion dollars every year.

Medical directors of one of the largest life insurance companies in the world predicted that the average American of the future may expect to live for 70 years.

To Continue Career

other coast teams while most of the regular have been with at least two other clubs. Johnny Monroe, second-sacker, was with the Missions of San Francisco and Sacramento before joining Portland.

A nine-year-old boy and his dog appeared at the dog license bureau at Pine Bluff, Ark., and applied for a tag on the installment plan. He got it.

NRA EFFECT ON DIXIE SCHOOLS IS ONLY SLIGHT

Compulsory Laws And Industrial Cooperation Already Cut Child Labor.

Atlanta (AP).—Compulsory school laws and cooperation of industrial plants over a period of several years have reduced to a minimum any problems of increased enrollment that might be caused by adoption of the national recovery program in the south.

School officials in states where textile mills and other industrial communities abound say they anticipate no difficulty in caring for those additional children who will enter or return to school this year because, under provisions of the NRA, they will not be allowed to work.

School Attendance Compulsory State laws make it compulsory that all children attend school until they have reached the age of 14, and those between the ages of 14 and 16 are not allowed to work except by permit, issued upon approval of local school superintendents.

A check of records of the Georgia department of industrial relations, shows that between January 1, 1933, and July 17, 1933, when the textile code became effective, only 502 permits to work were issued to children between the ages of 14 and 16. These are scattered over more than a dozen communities and will be absorbed by their respective schools without increasing the burden of attendance.

North Carolina authorities report that only 950 children in that state were affected by the code and that no problem in caring for them is anticipated. Ample school facilities are provided in all industrial communities and cooperation of employees with school authorities in enforcement of the compulsory attendance law has reduced child labor to a low figure.

No Letdown Seen

While elementary and high school revenues in the several states will be somewhat lower than last year, educational officers say they do not expect a lessening of school efficiency as a result of the code.

In Tennessee, where it is estimated 2,000 children will be thrown out of work under the codes, a decline of 25 per cent in school revenues is anticipated.

"This will not lessen school efficiency as much as it might appear at first glance," said James A. Roberts, assistant state commissioner of education, "because reduction in costs will offset a part of the loss."

Labor Commissioner W. E. Jacobs of Tennessee says there are no children under 14 working in the state.

"We are enforcing strictly the labor laws of this state with reference to children and women," he said. He pointed out that before a child under 16 can obtain a permit to work he must establish that his earnings are necessary to maintain either himself or his family.

Fewer than 4,000 children are employed in industry in Alabama and since the state's total school enrollment is well over 600,000 they will have little effect on the schools should they enter.

Opportunity For Pickers

In the eastern and central parts of the south, where the cotton crops usually are tended by the small farmer and his family, there is a prospect that child cotton pickers will have more schooling as the results of the cotton acreage reduction program. Often in the past many of them have been kept out of school a month or so to finish the harvest. That's the view of Cully A. Cobb, cotton production administrator for the agricultural adjustment administration.

Ancient Pompeii had traffic regulations and trouble with its reckless chariot drivers.

FAMILY REUNION

The joint Trimmer-Gochenour reunion was held recently at Williams' Grove, Cumberland county, when the following officers were elected: President, Emory P. Trimmer, York; vice president, Samuel Gochenour, Harrisburg; secretaries, Miss Ruth Crist, Mrs. G. W. Howe, York Springs, and Mrs. George Orner, Wellsville; treasurer, J. D. Gochenour, York Springs; historians, George Gochenour, Camp Hill, and the Rev. Chauncey P. Trimmer, York. Mrs. Susan Hertzler, 83 years old, was the oldest person present, and Robert Trimmer, aged nine months, was the youngest. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Koch, Cleveland, came the longest distance.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO FLY THE MAIL AT NIGHT!

● ABOVE—A. M. WILKINS, air-mail pilot for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., has flown the night air mail over 150,000 miles. It takes healthy nerves to hang up a record like that!

● RIGHT—AT THE END of this night run A. M. Wilkins joins a fellow pilot, W. Niedenhof, at Newark Airport, the Eastern Terminal of TWA, for a chat and a smoke. "Camels never ruffle or jangle my nerves," Wilkins says.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. They are milder, richer in flavor. They never tire your taste or get on your nerves.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

A. M. WILKINS, air-mail ace, says: "It's a steady grind, all right, being a night hawk on the air mail. A man has to have healthy nerves to live up to our tradition that the mail must go through! That's why I smoke Camels. And I smoke plenty! Camels never ruffle or jangle my nerves, and I like their mild, rich flavor."

Steady smokers turn to Camels because the costlier tobaccos in Camels never tire the taste—never get on the nerves.

Your taste and your nerves will confirm this. Start smoking Camels today and prove it for yourself. It is more fun to know!

EDITORIAL

PROCEED CAUTIOUSLY

In recent weeks, thousands of dollars have been taken out of Gettysburg through promotional schemes "sold" largely to business people through the sponsorship of local well-meaning but inexperienced organizations.

Usually, the promoters are engaged without the proper investigation. Some of them may be worthwhile enterprises, but all of them are "bought" and signed for largely on the cleverness of the salesman.

In all cases, the local organizations get much the small end of the receipts; the large part of the monies collected go out of the community with the promoters.

For the most part, the local organizations sponsoring these enterprises are deserving in every respect of community support and would undoubtedly receive it a great deal more fully and wholeheartedly if those supporting the various "stunts" would have some way of knowing that the enterprises were approved in a business sense before they are contracted for.

The Chamber of Commerce is the properly established medium through which these matters ought to be taken up with the people in advance of their promotion.

With the Chamber of Commerce endorsement, a lot of embarrassment to the business people, the promoters and the organizations sponsoring the "novelties" would be happily avoided.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
(From the New York Commercial

The Presidency.—The following gentlemen are already in nomination for the succession—viz:

Henry Clay, of Kentucky.
Daniel Webster, of Massachusetts.
John Marshall, of Virginia.
Benjamin Watkins Leigh, of Virginia.

Chapman Johnson, of Virginia.
Lewis Cass, of Ohio.
John McLean, of Ohio.
John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina.

Richard Rush, of Pennsylvania.
Louis McLane, of Delaware.
Martin Van Buren, of New York.
Richard M. Johnson, of Kentucky.
Maj. Jack Downing, of Downingville.

We have more than once protested against such an early agitation of the question; but as people are already taking the field, we suppose we must not sit longer on the fence. Wishing, moreover, to have our friends at all times able to tell where we are, we perhaps may as well take our sides at once. We therefore wish the public distinctly to know, that after mature deliberation, we have satisfactorily made up our minds that we are very decidedly in favor of several of these gentlemen.

Daring Robbery.—On Friday morning last, the house of John Wierman, Esq., of Huntington township, in this county, was entered during the absence of Mr. W. The only person in the house was a young female, to whose breast a pistol was presented, with a demand to be shown where the money of Mr. W. was kept. She led them to his desk, where they possessed themselves of about $260, and immediately made off. The alarm was soon given, and they were pursued to Carlisle, where they were taken. They were brought here on Saturday, and are now safely lodged in our prison—and will most probably receive their trial this week.—Their names are Buffington and Smith. Since their arrest one of them has made a full confession. He implicates in the transaction a distant relative of Mr. W., which person, we learn, has made his escape.

The cholera was still raging at Shepherdstown, by our last accounts, and several valuable citizens have fallen victims.

Two deaths from the same disease occurred in Charleston, Va., one on the 15th, the other on the 19th.

Two more deaths of cholera have taken place in Hagerstown.

It is still very malignant in various parts of the West.

Died: On Thursday night last,

Mr. Wilhelmus Houghtelin, of this borough, a patriot of the Revolution, in the 83d year of his age.

On Monday evening last, John son of Mr. M. C. Clarkson, of this borough, aged about 8 months.

There are three principal parties in Spain of the Queen, the King and the Don Carlos; and the tranquility of the country is deemed very precarious in consequence of the strength and zeal of each, and particularly as the health of the King is exceedingly bad.

The Seneca and Onondago Indians, at a grand council, holden on the 18th of June last, determined not to avail themselves of the proposition of the Secretary of War relative to their removal to Green Bay, but to live and die upon the land of their fathers.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Democratic Ticket: Our Democratic brethren had their convention on Monday last, and settled the following ticket:
Assembly—Charles Will.
Judge—Isaac E. Wierman.
Commissioner—Daniel Geiselman.
Director—Abraham Spangler.
Auditor—Jacob Klunk.
Coroner—Dr. Wm. C. Stem.

Mr. J. Kerr McIlhenny, Principal of the Hunterstown Academy, has been appointed County Superintendent of Common Schools, in room of Mr. Campbell. An excellent selection.

We are pleased to learn that the Citizens Band of this place are engaged for the coming Commencement exercises of the College and Seminary. They "discourse" very beautiful music, and the numerous visitors on that occasion may expect not only an intellectual treat, but also a musical one.

Mr. Stevens in the Field: The Hon. Thaddeus Stevens has been nominated for Congress by the Lancaster county Union Convention. He will, of course, be elected.

A Woods Meeting is to take place near New Chester, commencing on the evening of the 10th of September. The Rev. Mr. Winebrenner, of Harrisburg, is expected to be present.

The farm belonging to the estate of the late Wm. McPherson, deceased, in Cumberland township has been purchased by James J. Willis, Esq., of Gettysburg, for $3,000 cash.

Mr. Jacob Bucher recently sold 10 acres of woodland in Straban township, near the Railroad, to Messrs. McCurdy & King, at $90 per acre.

There was a white frost in a number of localities in our county on Tuesday morning last. It was very severe to the east, and at Franklin, N. H., there was a snow squall of five minutes' duration. Pretty good for August!

We have been requested to mention that the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath next. Preparatory services as customary.

Died: On the 14th inst., at the residence of his father, (Mr. David Sweeney), in this place, Mr. Benjamin Clary Sweeney, in the 32d year of his age.

On the 6th inst., Mr. George Koch, of Latimore township, aged about 84 years.

On the 18th inst., Julia Kate, daughter of Mr. John Slentz, Jr., of Cumberland township, aged 1 year, 6 months and 11 days.

On the 16th inst., Lilly A., daughter of Mr. Jacob A. Rimmel, of this place, aged 1 year.

On the 19th, Fanny Louisa, daughter of Mr. Henry Culp, of this place, aged 1 year, 7 months and 7 days.

On the 22nd, in this place, Gertrude M., daughter of Mr. Wm. Shillen, aged 2 years.

On the 15th, in this place, Eleonora G., daughter of Mr. Isaac McClain, aged 2 years, 5 months and 5 days.

On the 19th inst., Mr. John Henry Kuhn, of this county, aged 81 years, 4 months and 20 days.
On Thursday last, Margaret Orr, daughter of Mr. Thomas Orr, of Hamiltonban township.
On the 3d inst., in Littlestown, Mr. Wm. Gulden, sen., in the 70th year of his age.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MEN'S LIVES

NOTHING is more interesting than the story of a man's life. It doesn't matter as to the relative value of that life. We are incapable of measuring values anyway, that is, final values. It is the action of the drama that intrigues us.

I used to visit a bootblack's stand near Broadway, New York, and was so interested in the personality of the Italian who conducted it, that I inquired about him. He did little work himself, excepting in emergencies, but his watchful eye covered his place like a bright sun. He was jealous of his reputation and wanted everyone to go out with a smile on his face as bright as the shine on the shoes his men had treated.

They told me that he had a son in Rome who was a physician and who had distinguished himself in his profession. I could understand. Elihu Burritt became known as "the learned Blacksmith" because he mastered something like forty languages while he fanned the flames at his forge in his shop.

I was reading a little sketch about George R. Sims, the other day, and I shall remember this about him—that he was known never to speak unkindly about anyone. He had definite opinions, and expressed them frankly and with courage—but he shrank at hurting or harming the feelings of others. He made foes and they, in turn, were unmerciful with him in their attacks—yet he refrained to reply in kind. He was sensitive and generous and respected the private lives of others.

We lose so much that is precious to us in our desire for happiness when we allow ourselves to continually, or habitually, pick out the flaws in other people's lives or characters.

The inspiring thing about the life of Christ was that he came in contact with every class and type of people—rich, poor, famous, unknown, weak and ill—yet there is no recorded word of personal criticism against any one. The poor, the lame, the halt, the sinner and saint alike,

Greater than the fame of such men as Theodore Roosevelt, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Woodrow Wilson, Viscount Grey, Joseph Conrad, was the friendliness which they left as an eternal aroma of their sincere lives.

The greatest tribute ever paid to Caesar was that by his friend Anthony: "This was a man!" If we can leave the grave of the greatest with this thought in our heart—I loved him—that is quite enough.

Washington.—Now that the "new deal" has emerged victorious in its first court test, one of the most important and significant phases of the new administration's program has been reached.

It was something worth watching when the oil refiners of Texas came into the District of Columbia supreme court attacking the industrial recovery act and asking that it be set aside. Here was a test of one of the most weighty problems that have arisen since adoption of the constitution itself.

The refiners complained that the president is exercising powers which must be exercised by congress alone. And when their counsel was asked by the presiding justice whether he thought the act was based on federal powers over interstate commerce or power given to the federal government to meet emergency conditions, he answered flatly.

"The act can't be sustained on any grounds."

Then The Court Spoke

But the court, it has developed, indicated that it holds a contrary view, by deciding that all laws, "including the constitution, should be read in emergencies in the light of the law of necessity."

The final decision, of course—and one which might mean that the program of the "new deal" will either stand or fall—rests with the supreme court of the nation.

It is highly doubtful whether the supreme court will make a decision on the new laws any time soon. It's almost physically impossible. The court has adjourned until October. With the facilities the justices have at their disposal it would seem almost impossible for decisions affecting the "new deal" to be handed down during the next session which comes to a close in May, 1934.

Necessity Or Precedent

The philosophy of the court as it is now constituted and as it has been revealed in decisions seems to many observers to be liberal. Even without the presence of Oliver Wendell Holmes on the bench this appears true.

While no one can predict what will happen to the new laws when they do reach the court, some believe this will play a prominent part.

Meanwhile, speculation continues

The trees are usually two and three years old when set out. They are sold for $2 per thousand for seedlings and $5 per thousand for transplants.

According to Charles R. Meek, chief of the bureau of forest extension, orders for trees for planting during the coming fall are now being received by the department of forests and waters. Prospective tree planters may obtain further details and a copy of Circular 31, "Forest Trees to Plant in Pennsylvania," recently issued, upon request of the department at Harrisburg.

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—
VALUABLE REAL ESTATE
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1933
One O'clock, P. M.

Pursuant to an order issuing out of the Orphans' Court, of Adams County, Pa., the undersigned administrators of the estate of Ollie
B. Musselman, late of Hamiltonban Township, Adams County, Pa., deceased, will offer at Public Sale on the premises in Hamiltonban Township all that the following described
valuable real estate:

Tract No. 1. Being a farm situate on the Macadam Road leading from Fairfield to Orrtanna about one mile North of Fairfield. The same being a farm bounded on the North by land of Mrs. N. C. Trout and Harvey Walter, on the East by Ellis Bream, on the South by Ellis Bream and Roy Stoops, and on the West by Clain McClellan. This farm is improved with a two and one-half story stone dwelling house of 8 rooms, frame bank barn with metal roof, wagon sheds, hog pen, chicken houses, machinery shed, two never failing springs of splendid water at the house and well of water at the barn, electric lighting system in house and barn. About eighty acres of the land under cultivation and twenty acres of Apple Orchard with choice variety of fruit, all land in excellent state of cultivation. This farm containing 101 Acres and 149 perches of land, more or less, located at the foot of the mountain is a very desirable location for an agricultural and fruit farm, the entire acreage being practically level.

Tract No. 2. Situate on the North side of the public road leading from the Fairfield and Gettysburg Road to the Fairfield and Orrtanna Road adjoining land of the William Singly Estate. This tract of land contains 13 Acres more or less of pasture land.

Tract No. 3. Situate on the South side of the Cold Springs Road about 1 1/4 miles west from the Fairfield and Orrtanna Road, adjoining land of T. M. Walter on the East and C.
P. Musselman on the West, containing 17 Acres and 120 Perches of mountain land with timber and wood thereon.

Tract No. 4. Situate on the East Side of the Fairfield—Orrtanna Road about 1/4 mile North of Fairfield, adjoining land of Dolly Brothers, Russel Singly and John Musselman, containing 6 Acres of land more or less in good state of cultivation.

The above described four tracts of land of the late Ollie B. Musselman, deceased, will be offered at public sale at Tract No. 1, the farm property, situate in Hamiltonban Township, Adams County, Pa., on Friday, September 1, 1933 at 1 o'clock P. M., when terms and conditions will be made known by the undersigned.

GLENN MUSSELMAN,
PAUL MUSSELMAN,
Administrators of the Estate of Ollie B. Musselman, deceased.
Orrtanna, Pa., R. No. 2.

May Add $1 To Pistol Permit Fee

A clause in the sheriff's fee bill passed by the 1933 general assembly imposing an additional charge of one dollar for issuing and recording any license, has resulted in the sheriffs in some counties charging an extra dollar for issuing licenses to carry firearms.

Sportsmen, who, under the terms of the uniform firearms act of 1931, are not even charged the fifty cents prescribed by that act when they have a hunting license for the current year, have raised objections, and complaints have reached the office of the secretary of the commonwealth.

The question of the legality of this charge was submitted to the attorney general, who advised that it is permitted by the provisions of the new fee bill, and the only way to remedy the situation will be for the 1935 legislature to amend that law.

This provision does not apply however to licenses issued by the police heads of cities. The resident of a city has to pay fifty cents only, and if he has a hunting license for the current year, he will receive same without charge.

State Profits
By Sale Of Trees

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania is richer by some $12,500 received from the sale of small trees to private landowners for reforestation purposes during the first half of the year.

Seedling and transplants for

Important Information for all
Gettysburg Gas ConsumersBEGINNING TODAY, August 28th, Gettysburg
Will Be Supplied with NATURAL GAS

The change from manufactured to Natural Gas will require the adjustment of ALL appliances as the flame will be slightly longer than with mixed gas which has been used in the past.

Instructions For Using Natural Gas

Clip Out These Instructions And Keep Them in a Conspicuous Place.
Carefully follow the instructions until the Gas Company Service Man Calls.
The Gas Company will adjust your gas appliances—without cost to you.

How to Use the New Gas
Until the Service Man Calls

GAS RANGES

Top Burners: Do not turn full on. Flame should not be over 1 inch high.

Oven Burners: Do not turn full on. Flame should not be over 3/4 inch long. If range is equipped with oven control, set control at hottest temperature and leave there. Regulate oven temperature by burner valve, as control will not work until adjusted by Service Man.

HOT PLATES AND LAUNDRY STOVES

Do not turn full on. Flame should not be over 1 inch high.

GAS REFRIGERATORS

No adjustment needed until Service Man calls.

ROOM HEATERS

Do not turn full on.

COIL WATER HEATERS attached to RANGE BOILER

Do not turn full on. Flame should not be over 2 inches high.

AUTOMATIC WATER HEATERS

Instantaneous Type (burns gas only when hot water is turned on). Turn on hot water faucet nearest heater. Then go immediately to heater and turn main gas valve on heater to half off to reduce flame. Turn off hot water faucet and then make sure that pilot light is burning properly.

Storage Type (that keeps a constant supply of hot water in tank). First draw off enough hot water from nearest faucet to start heater burning. Then turn main gas valve on heater partly off. Flame should not be over 1 1/2 inches high. When heater stops burning make sure that pilot light is burning properly.

SPECIAL NOTICE: All Water Heaters located in Bath Rooms, Gas House-Heating Burners, Boilers, Furnaces and all Gas Appliances not included in the above instructions should be TURNED OFF and not used until adjusted by the Service Man.

As a measure of safety, all water heaters should be connected to a chimney. Be very careful in making temporary adjustments—allow no flame in the vicinity of escaping gas.
